THIS WEEK'S NEWS AT ST ANNE LINE CATHOLIC JUNIOR SCHOOL

Gospel Values Award Take Over

This week's article is revolved around the Gospel Value: kindness! By showing kindness, it is possible to accomplish anything in your wildest dreams; this element is completely free. Our keen reporters have been observing the behaviour of you fabulous individuals, and are proud to say that you have been representing the school perfectly! You can do this also, by showing: hospitality, kindness, humility and compassion. A powerful concoction of love, is truly unwavering and quite frankly unstoppable. We would like you to submit your own personal response on this subject, and the same will happen every week. You could be recording your own growth or another person's act of selflessness. So, will you be able to make someone else's day?

Let's create some buzz with our spelling skills!

This week, children across the school have been participating in spelling bees ; our qualifiers competed in front of the school on Wednesday the 31st. The knock out round commenced, with two children { Evaniya and Evelyn} making it through to the final round-which is being hosted by the James Hornsby school. Congratulations to all who participated!

Yesterday, at approximately 8:45 am, eight children { Andre, Evelyn, Ivy, Sarah, Evaniya, John, Jezreel and Rishon} attended the James Hornsby literacy workshop; accompanied by Miss. Saich - the English lead- and Mrs. Vaughn. After a multitude of exciting activities: icebreakers, escape rooms and poetry lessons regarding witchcraft and wizardry; the compatriots advanced to the next escape room - eluding the campus! According to all of the pupils present, the workshop was an absolute favourite, and they wish to attend another similar event!
